Brookshire Golf Club

Monday June 19th was the annual NRN golf outing. Oscar Cruz was on hand, and with some quick lessons he was hitting the 5 iron 125 yards...nice job Oscar!

Over $4000.00 was raised for Nicaragua. I know everyone is looking forward to doing it all again next year. Many thanks to all the volunteers who helped make this event a big success.

Praise God.

School of the Living Water

Today there are 325 children that attend Tabernaculo Agua Viva. Every child that enrolls is potentially being saved from a life on the street. Much more than academics are being taught at this incredible school.

As many of you know, Tabernaculo Agua Viva is located in one of the most dangerous sections of Managua. But the school is an oasis that quiets the surroundings, provides safety, and focuses on Jesus.

As of this date, a whopping 30% of the students lack direct sponsorship. NRN is constantly working towards linking a loving person stateside with a deserving student in Managua.

If you know someone who would like to join with us in sharing their love, prayer and about $1 per day, we would love to bring the blessing of a Christian education to every student at Tabernaculo Agua Viva.

Your Neighborhood

For those of you that have visited Nicaragua, you probably have memories of a special child or family that you came to know during the week or over several visits.

I remember kids and faces, but neighborhoods, and places within the neighborhoods stick in my mind. A corner lot where kids play, families meet, a soccer field, and a soda stand are etched in my mind forever.

This cross sits atop a small hill in a neighborhood at Poneloya, and a favorite place of mine

If you have a favorite place, you can shoot us an email, and we will post it along with a short story to go along with it.

Vanessa

Two years ago, on my first trip to Nicaragua, I met a girl named Vanessa B. I helped her and another girl make a T-shirt through the T-shirt ministry at the church. That was probably our second or third day working there.

For the rest of the trip those two girls stuck to me like glue. The only time they weren't at my side was when I was working inside the building. But the moment I stepped outside they would come running and assault me with hugs and laughter.

They had some private joke between them that they kept laughing at. Of course I didn't know what it was about so I just laughed with them. Naturally they just laughed even harder.

Then on my trip last January I didn't get a chance to visit Vanessa's neighborhood until the day before our departure. When I got there I asked several girls if they knew Vanessa. Finally one beckoned to me and, from what I could understand, explained that Vanessa couldn't make it to the service that night, but she wanted to give me two hoop earrings which the little girl passed on.

We were all standing outside the airport terminal when suddenly Vanessa walked up to me! Mario (our translator) explained that she and her family had taken a taxi to the airport just so she could say goodbye to me. She introduced me to her sister and I did likewise.

There was so much I wanted to say to her but I couldn't. Instead I just stood there hugging her until finally it was time to go. So I told her the only thing that could come close to saying what I wanted to tell her... Adios bien amigos.

Poneloya Fishing Ministry

With a delivery of a few essentials in June the Belcer ministry hopes to supplement a few fishermen in need.

Our hope is to reach some of the men in the community and bring them closer to the church in Poneloya. The tools are very basic, just hooks, line and Love.

This church is doing well, and Anabel is back at the Pastor position, but involvement of more men in the church is needed.

Our prayer is that the men there will see these blessings that come from the church and become active in its ultimate mission of bringing Jesus into the hearts of those who simply ask.
